RED DOG RECORDINGS ANNOUNCES START OF VOICE COACHING SERVICE

Whether you are new to the VOX industry or need a tune-up, Jen can help

(Richmond, VA) - Jen Towner, President of Red Dog Recordings, has announced that RDR now offers voice-coaching services for beginners and veterans in the VOX industry. Whether you are a novice trying to enter the business or an experienced broadcast professional looking for a consult on a big audition, RDR can help. Red Dog Recordings also provides production services in conjunction with voice coaching.

[Testimonial] "Jen really helped me with the little things I was missing in my voice work. Those 'little' things can really turn into 'big' things when you're auditioning for parts," said Alan Boyle, a recent RDR client. "Thanks again Jen for your straightforward approach and all your knowledge you were willing to share. And of course, the great demo you produced for me!"

Jen currently voices TV/Radio commercials all over the country, in markets of all sizes, including Arizona, California, Georgia, Maine, Virginia and Washington. Jen is a 20-plus year veteran in the radio industry and in addition to the top-rated shows she has hosted, Jen has also held positions in radio production, radio programming, multi-media marketing and radio/newspaper advertising.
