The Virginias Associated Press Honors WSLs 10

(Roanoke, VA) --- Continuing excellence in broadcast journalism, The Virginias Associated Press has awarded WSLs 10 with six distinctions of merit.

Highlighting the ceremony, WSLs 10 was Southwest Virginia's most honored broadcast news organization. "This year, our news department renewed its commitment to the Southwest Virginia community," says WSLs 10 News Director Rick Moll. "It's great to be honored by our peers, and to serve the viewers every day. Being the most honored broadcast news organization in this market reflects the dedication of our entire staff."

WSLS 10 received first place honors in the following categories:

- Best News Anchor: John Carlin
- Best Weathercast: Jeff Haniewich, Kristina Montuori and Patrick McKee

The Associated Press also awarded WSLs 10 with 4 Meritorious Awards.

- Best Spot News Coverage: Lynchburg Train Derailment
- Best Continuing Coverage: Lynchburg Train Derailment
- Best Spot News Videography: Lynchburg Train Derailment
- Best Sports Anchor: John Appicello

WSLS 10 is owned by Media General Communications Holdings, LLC, one of the nation's largest multimedia companies, operating 71 television stations in 48 markets.
