

ESPN RADIO 94.1 TO BROADCAST ODU PRESS CONFERENCE LIVE TODAY

February 26, 2010 -- Old Dominion University will officially introduce Dr. Wood Selig as their new athletic director today (Friday, February 26) at the ODU tennis center. Max Media's ESPN Radio 94.1 will broadcast from the ODU tennis center starting at 11 a.m. and continue till about 1 p.m. this afternoon.

"This is a historic event for ODU and for Hampton Roads," noted program director Tony Mercurio.

"Wood Selig is replacing Dr. Jim Jarrett, who has been at Old Dominion University for 40 years. We feel that the Hampton Roads area and Monarch Nation should have a chance to hear this historic event LIVE on the radio."

Wood Selig comes to ODU from Western Kentucky, where he has been the athletic director of that school. "Max Media also has a history with Wood," remarked Mercurio. "One of our Max Media television stations is located in Bowling Green, Kentucky, and our President John Trinder has actually worked with Wood over the past several years with Western Kentucky and our TV station."
