March 22, 2011 —Portsmouth, VA: WAVY TV10 was once again awarded the Medium Market Station of the Year Award in the National Press Photographers Association's 2011 Best Of Photojournalism Television competition.

"It's a thrill to win the National Press Photographers Association Medium Market Station of the Year for the second year in a row. We are honored the judges recognized our excellence in photojournalism and commitment to our viewers on a national level," said Chief Photographer Jeff Myers. "I have a fantastic Photography staff here at WAVY/WVBT and am very proud of their great accomplishments."

In addition to winning the prestigious Medium Market Station of the Year Award, the judges were also riveted by the station's Video Photography Team Category entry, "Remembering Earl". The talented team of Photojournalists submitted an in-depth video that painted a vivid picture and told the heart-felt story of the lives of Hampton Roads residents before, during and after Hurricane Earl. The judges were impressed with both the consistency and dedication of all the videos submitted by the WAVY TV10 Photojournalist Team.

"The outstanding photography staff at WAVY TV10 deserve this award for their hard work and dedication to being the best at their jobs not only in Hampton Roads, but in the United States," said News Director April Samp. "The National Press Photographers Association award means that our viewers are getting top-notch news presented at the highest levels of professionalism."

Every year, the National Press Photographers Association honors those who have supported the organization, assisted photojournalists, and have contributed to excellence in the profession of photojournalism. WAVY TV10 is proud to be among those recognized for exemplifying superior photojournalism two years in a row.
